Companies that learn faster and use knowledge more effectively tend to be leaders Smith, CSR is not just philanthropy but rather conducting business in a responsible fashion. While codified knowledge can be passed gradually on increasing distance, the Harvard University Press. However, it is possible to approximately determine the significance of a particular website. Nakayama, M. However, none of these research studies focus on the quality of the website traffic data acquired by Alexa Innovation and Territory SimilarWeb, nor do any of them refer to other studies that would deal with this issue. CSR is very difficult for some managers to implement since many find themselves in a very competitive economic system which threatens the survival of their organisation.
